Termination of Railroad Strike Expected As Plan Of President Is Taken Up

Rail Heads Meet in New York; Union Leaders at Chicago.

HOOPER AT THE LATTER

Chairman of United States Labor Board Is Said to Have Authority to Speak for Harding; Reports of Violence From Two Points Only.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug 1—President Harding's proposal for settlement of the nation-wide rail strike, made public today in connection with the consideration at a meeting of 148 rail heads, were three in number.

The first sets forth that the roads and men should abide by the wage decision reached by the United States Railroad Labor Board.

The second would provide that all lawsuits brought by the roads in connection with the strike should be withdrawn and that disputes arising out of the walkout should be left with the Labor Board for settlement.

The third proposal—and the one calculated to provide the most discussion when the conference meets again this afternoon for a vote of acceptance or rejection—suggests that strikers be taken back on the basis of seniority which they enjoyed before the walkout.

CHICAGO, Aug 1—The railroad strike today entered its second month with meetings at Chicago and New York which were expected in some quarters to end this walkout immediately. Union chiefs were here and railroad executives in New York to consider the President's plan for settlement.

At Chicago were most of the 90 general chairmen of the shop craft workers and several other leaders including B M Jewell president of the Railway Employes Department of the American Federation of Labor and Timothy Healy head of the striking firemen and oilers. Chairman Ben W Hooper of the United States Railroad Labor Board also was on hand. It was understood that he hoped to be able to speak for President Harding should it become necessary. The New York meeting included executives of 148 leading railroads.

The President's plan, a union official said, included restoration of seniority rights to strikers subject to the rights of men who stayed at work. Old employes who remained on the job would retain such additional rights as they acquired during the strike. As he met it the foot of the seniority list and the first laid off in slack times many workers who struck would lose assurance of steady employment. Men hired by the roads since the strike began would be given only rights acquired by them and would not have rights above old men who were on strike.

Other provisions of the peace plan were that shop men accept the wage reductions of the labor board pending a hearing by the board and that they would agree to abide by decisions of the board in the future. The railroads were to discontinue farming out of shop work. The question of national and regional adjustment boards to expedite settlement of labor disputes would be discussed further.

Reports of violence were confined to one from Columbus, [illegible] where a party of negroes working in the Central Georgia shops were attacked by whites and one of the negroes beaten, and the arrest of a striker leader at Amarillo, Tex., on a charge of assault with intent to kill in connection with the stabbing of a non-union worker.

MINE GUARDS AND ATTACKERS FIGHT NEAR PT. MARION

An attack on the Locust Hill Mine at Point Marion was made by between 40 and 50 men early this morning. About 3 o'clock a rocket was sent into the sky and almost simultaneously a volley of shots was poured into the mine. The attacking party was concealed in the brush back of the tipple.

At one time several men rushed from the bushes and sought shelter beneath the tipple but the guards made it so hot for them there that they retreated again. A few minutes later the body was seen hurrying away in the direction of Cheat Haven.

It is believed the attackers intended to blow up the tipple. The mine has been operating since the strike began and some strike breakers are employed there. The state police were summoned.

More Coke Plants and Ovens Fired

The beginning of the 18th week of the strike in the Connellsville region has been marked by an increase in the number of plants and ovens in blast. Two additional operations, Isabella and Thompson No. 2, the former with 80 and the latter with 30 ovens have been restored to running in the Lower Connellsville district.

Humphries, 117 ovens, has resumed activity in the Connellsville district and [illegible] ovens have been fired up at three plants of the H. C. Frick Coke Company. The increases total 308 ovens and are the largest during any single week since the movement in the situation began on May 6. The [illegible] active ovens now number 7,058 or 60 per cent of the [illegible] in production on April 1, the day the strike was inaugurated.

FIFTEEN KILLED, 25 INJURED WHEN TRAINS COLLIDE

By Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Aug 1—Fifteen persons were reported killed and 25 to 30 injured in a head-on collision today between a northbound negro excursion and southbound passenger train No 11 from Dayton on the Cincinnati, Lebanon & Northern railroad at Lester station, a suburb of Cincinnati.

The southbound train No 11 composed of five [illegible] behind the locomotive crashed into the northbound special excursion of three cars carrying several hundred negroes to a picnic at Highland Grove.

The two trains came together with a terrific force telescoping each other.

The special train with a rippling crash and the hiss of escaping steam was followed by the screams of the injured. The cars were entangled into each other and presented a terrible aspect as those in the vicinity ran to render aid.

Most of the fatalities were among the negro occupants of the train bearing the excursion party. When the two locomotives rushed together the coaches rebounded from the impact hurling their tenders through the cars in the rear.

Word was telephoned to Cincinnati and fire apparatus, ambulance, life saving squads and patrolmen and firemen were rushed to the scene to give what aid was possible.

Mine Owners Are Firm Against the Four-State Scale

PITTSBURG, Aug 1—Pittsburg coal operators emphatically declare the membership of the Pittsburg Coal Producers Association will not enter into any four state conference for the settlement of the nation wide strike.

They also declare they have been in communication with representatives of the coal associations of Illinois and Indiana and had received definite information that the mine owners of those two states had taken the same stand at the beginning of the strike and will adhere to it.

From various cities and district centers, Pittsburg operators said, President John L Lewis and other officials of the United Mine Workers of America have been giving out interviews intimating that the miners will be back at work within a month and conveying the impression that arrangements are in the hands [illegible] for a conference which will bring the strike to an end.

These have the [illegible] it was said in the fact that Ohio operators of District No 8 field are inclined to settle and have asked Mr Lewis to set a date for a conference. WATER RIGHTS IN INDIAN CREEK TO BE DETERMINED

Equity Proceedings Held Up By Delay in Arrival of Counsel.

MILLIONS ARE INVOLVED

Mountain Water Supply Company Claim Many Coal Mining Operations Draining Into Indian Creek Are Making Its Product Impure.

The opening of the equity proceedings of the Mountain Water Supply Company against a number of coal operations in the Indian Creek valley which had been set for 10 o'clock in court [illegible] this morning was held up until 11 o'clock when some attorneys [illegible] were delayed. The litigation involves several [illegible] with the attorneys [illegible] and prominent at [illegible] represented as counsel.

The case is one of the most important civil actions that has been brought in the state, the outcome of which is of vital interest to coal operators and water companies of the county. The Mountain Water Supply Company and others are seeking to restrain the coal companies in the Indian Creek basin from draining their mine water into Indian Creek and its tributaries below the dam at Indian Head. The [illegible] engineer's office [illegible] of the fact that water from the creek supplies the [illegible] with water for domestic use. Aside from the supply to the public [illegible] the plaintiff companies supply a large amount of water for commercial and manufacturing purposes. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company secures a considerable of its water [illegible] from this creek and [illegible] the sulphuric acid in the water from the mines is causing [illegible] to locomotives and rendering the water unfit for this [illegible].

The Westmoreland Water Company alleges that 40 per cent of this supply is received from the Indian Creek and that it has no other available means of supplying the public with water or [illegible] with the requirements of its [illegible] coal operations are [illegible] their mines [illegible]. This company [illegible] a population of [illegible] with water for domestic use in addition to supplying industries of various kinds. The district served by the company includes the [illegible] of Youngwood, Greensburg, [illegible] Irwin, Manor and Penn in addition to many mining villages and farming portions of townships. The coal companies were notified as to [illegible] the water before they began operations and that the operations have increased to such an extent that they have polluted the streams and if allowed to continue will render the water useless.

The individual coal companies contend that they individually are not responsible for the contamination of the stream and that it is the collective [illegible] that works the hardship. The [illegible] all located at an altitude higher than the stream and to turn the course of the outlets of their mines would mean the expenditure of an enormous amount of money. Whether [illegible] could be treated with chemicals before entering the stream so as to rid it of the sulphuric acid will be one of the principal questions involved. It is expected that expert chemists will be called to testify as to the method.

WINNING BOY SCOUT BADGES.

Persons who have not become interested in Scouting and are unfamiliar with its objects and purposes, and know little of what it does for boys, may be inclined to attach little importance to the winning of merit badges and the advancement through the several grades. Such things, these uninterested persons think, are more or less foolish and without meaning, but such views betray a lamentable ignorance of Scouting on part of those who have not been sufficiently sympathetic with boys to become informed concerning the advantages the Boy Scout organization offers as an aid to the home, church and school in the training of boys.

No Boy Scout is advanced in his rating, or awarded a badge, until he has earned the advancement or the right to become possessor of the token. Aside from formal instruction in the work and principles of Scouting the boy receives no aid, but is left to himself to faithfully comply with the regulations and to do the things entitling him to the rewards. He thus develops those traits which in future life will tend to qualify him as a good and useful citizen and be helpful to him in overcoming the obstacles that lie across every pathway to success. If that were all Scouting did for a boy; all the benefit to be derived from the annual camp in the open, it would more than compensate for all it costs in money or time.

Parents may, therefore, well be proud of their boy who receives a Scout badge of merit, knowing that he has done something toward a realization of their ideals in him as a man in the making.

FINANCIAL NEEDS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

The Democratic National Committee is evidently under the impression that "deserving" members of their party are still holding postmasterships in Pennsylvania and are so accustomed to receiving and responding to tearful appeals to help replenish the Democratic campaign fund that Harrison Nesbit, chairman of the finance committee, is pursuing the time honored policy of holding up the job-holders for assessments without regard to the fact that his urgent pleadings are being addressed to Democrats and Republicans alike.

Incidentally these letters disclose that the Democratic war chest is empty and the need is distressing. Without wasting words Chairman Nesbit comes right down to brass tacks on the situation when he says:

> "However, we've got to have a few bushes of oats to make the Old Donkey show a little speed, and that's where you come in. We want you to send us $10 right away, to help us make the grade. The Republican party is boosting us a lot by its blunders and inactivity, but we've got to do something on our own account, too, and it takes money to spread the gospel. That's the reason your ten-spot is needed."

Where or when this demand fails to produce results a follow-up letter is sent which is designed as irresistible in its appeal. The text of this letter follows:

> "For Pete's sake, friend, get over the writer's cramp you've been suffering from and help us show the voters whose heads need cracking.
>
> "Haven't you any heart at all? Don't you want the national committee to hop into this fray while the hoppin's good, and we've a made-to-order chance to win?
>
> "Talk to yourself about this and see if your heart doesn't tell you to do your bit by shooting a check into headquarters, to be used in making good Democrats out of bad Republicans.
> "I'm sure it will and I shall be watching confidently for a letter on the first mail meward from youward."

While the national committee managers are conducting their tear-starting campaign for funds Democratic State Chairman McCullough has mapped out one of the most intensive campaign collection schemes ever devised in Pennsylvania to try to obtain enough cash in hand to land Candidate McSparran in the governorship.

McCullough has divided the state into zones and has arranged to have some local collector hold a heart-to-heart talk with the wary $1 contributors in every zone while other members of the state committee shake down the big contributors.

All of which shows that the finances of the Democratic organizations are in such shape, and the need so distressing, that no contribution, no matter how small, will be overlooked.

Menace of Godless Homes.

Uttering a "solemn warning to the men and women of America" that "this Nation will decay and finally perish when American homes cease to revere God," the report of the joint commission on home and family life, which will be presented to the triennial general convention of the Episcopal Church, meeting in Portland, Ore., September 6 next, has been made public.

"Advance culture did not save past civilizations, did not prevent Germany plunging into a gulf of infamy. Upon America's consecration to God depends her fate," says the report, which contains an exhaustive study of social and industrial conditions in the United States with particular reference to home life.

The commission was appointed by the Episcopal general convention six years ago and includes in its personnel some of the most distinguished of the bishops, clerical and lay members of the church. Among other subjects which are frankly treated are those of marriage, divorce and birth control. The report contains a strong recommendation against the latter. The Rev. Charles Noyes Tyndell, S. T. D., of Williamsport, Pa., secretary of the commission, in transmitting the report says that the whole effort of the commission has been to present to the country a vital message in as concise form as possible.

"Even a cursory glance at conditions in the average American home reveals evidence sufficient to warrant the most careful study of those influences now affecting these homes from the standpoint of morals and religion," the report continues. "The attitude toward youth, even more than the attitude of the youth, will scarcely bear severe scrutiny.

"We touch the root of our family problem when we point to the lack of religion in the home. It is paralyzing to think of the average American family going on from the rising to the retiring hour as if God had no existence. Sunday is a day for extra sleep, motoring, Sunday papers in many volumes, comic supplements. If American children are not to be taught of God in the schools and He is unnamed in the home, what can we expect but that at this moment the United States is actually developing into a non-Christian nation?"

Touching upon domestic life in America, the report says: "Where family life is dishonored, wedding unfaithfulness lightly regarded, parental responsibility neglected, filial respect and obedience slighted, there, we may be sure, society is rotten at the core. We tremble for the future of a state or nation where lax theories concerning domestic life gain ground. Even laxer practice will certainly prevail."

Just Folks

Edgar A. Guest.

TOO FRIENDLY

He never caused a man to sneer,
Was never taunted by a jeer,
Had never battled with a foe;
But through the years that come and go,
He smiled his easy way along
And played the friend to right or wrong.

He never ventured night or day
Out of the well-worn trodden way,
He never pried adventure's lid,
He voted as his father did;
But when an argument arose
He sided both with friends and foes

He talked as one who loved the right,
But he was never known to fight,
Fearing the hate of men, he stayed
Holding opinions but afraid
To give them voice. In moments tense,
His silence gave no man offense.

Pleasant his smile and meek his way,
The same tomorrow as today,
Living his life, its joy and smart,
Yet shirking duty's sterner part;
A friend to all he walked along,
But friendly both to right and wrong.

Who never braves the cynic's sneer,
Nor wins the sinful braggart's jeer,
But seeks through life's long years to go
Free from the malice of a foe,
Buries his talents in the earth
With nothing done to prove his worth.

Better to fight and fall than stay
Upon life's side-lines day by day;
Better the jeers than smiles of those
Who should be looked upon as foes.
For friendship has no value when
It makes no choice twixt knaves and men.

Still Better Value In Shoes

Not so long ago it was necessary to pay $8, $10, $12, or even more, for a good, serviceable pair of men's dress shoes. That such times are happily past is no better emphasized than by the values we now offer in not only Men's Footwear, but also in Women's and Children's as well. It has been a long, long time since so much downright service and style could be had in a $4.00 pair of men's shoes. A better line at $5.00 will provide the extra all 'round quality you may demand. Our shoes for women, and for the young folks, are equally as good. Recent purchases of all lines are now on sale. And remember — that every pair must give entire satisfaction or your money will be refunded.

Place for Playing Third Game of Series Will Be Decided by Toss Tonight

Members of Scottdale Board of Directors Coming Here.

PIRATES WIN ONCE MORE

The place for playing the baseball game between Connellsville and Scottdale this week end will be decided tonight when visiting directors will be present for the toss of a coin which arrangement has been agreed on between the two managements

The teams have each played a game at home The Scottdale management is desirous of playing the third game at home in order to take care of fans who have purchased season tickets The Cokers however demanded that the contest be played in their closed park As a result a break between the teams followed and the only step which has been taken to provide a contest for this week-end is the action of the Scottdale club in agreeing to determine the playing ground by the toss of a coin

Both outfits have won one game and the contest Saturday will be the final one of the series Fans are greatly interested in the coming clash The teams have demonstrated their worth and two of the best baseball games of the season have resulted in the previous clashes

Last night Directors Smith Buttermore and J J Thompson went to Scottdale to meet members of that club's management After being there some time they were notified by a telephone call that Manager Hockenberry and the secretary of the Scottdale Independent were caught in the rain storm at Latrobe and would not be able to be present at the conference They promised to come to Connellsville this evening for the toss and then it will be definitely determined just where the contest will be played

One thing is certain No matter whether the game is in Connellsville or Scottdale the greatest crowd which ever filled either ball park will be on hand Interest has been doubled by the controversy between the teams and will result in extra drawing power for the game Each team has won its victory by a one-point margin rallies coming late in the game Saturday the best in both will be put forth and an epochal clash will go down in baseball history

Bosses of Baseball And Labor to Attend Legion Convention

NEW ORLEANS Aug 1—Organized labor and organized baseball will be represented at the American Legion national convention in New Orleans next October The convention committee has received word that Samuel Gompers president of the American Federation of Labor and Kenesaw Mountain Landis high commissioner of organized baseball will appear on the convention program

Acceptance of the convention invitation by the labor leader [illegible] address made before the recent national convention of the American Federation of Labor in Cincinnati by Hanford MacNider, Legion national commander A resolution adopted by the labor delegates instructed Mr Gompers to appear before the Legion gathering as the representative of organized labor

In his letter to Commander MacNider Mr Gompers said

One of the most interesting and pleasurable events of the Cincinnati convention was the eloquent address you delivered I heard many expressions of commendation of your remarks You made a deep impression upon the delegates Personally I want to take this opportunity to say to you that I regard your address as another strong link in the chain binding together the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor

Mr Landis who recently resigned his position as federal judge of the Northern district of Illinois to devote his entire time to baseball has spoken at Legion meetings in all parts of the country and is considered one of the leading advocates of the interests of World War veterans His son is an ex-service man

Major General John A Lejeune commandant of the United States Marine Corps, had previously accepted the invitation while tentative acceptances have been received from President Harding and General Pershing

While admitting that he has given up hope of equaling George Ruth's world record of 59 home runs Kenneth Williams of the Browns is confident he will lead the New York slugger this season at least

NESTING PLACES FOR BIRDS

Golf Courses Make Ideal Community Refuge for Beautiful and Useful Songsters.

Golfers, who are no doubt broadly interested in the out-of-doors, should be glad to cooperate in the preservation encouragement and increase of useful birds for a golf course makes in many respects an ideal community bird refuge The broad expanses of short grass on the fairways furnish excellent feeding grounds for robins meadowlarks starlings flickers and killdeers In rougher spots there is an abundant insect population as food for the birds Most golf courses have water hazards at which birds can drink and bathe and many are protected to a large extent from trespass and are relatively free from natural enemies to birds

Protection food and water are thus afforded. Nesting sites however the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture points out may be lacking and must be supplied by artificial nest boxes in trees and shrubbery along the sides of the course. Such beautiful and useful birds as the purple martin bluebird housewren tree swallow flicker white-breasted nuthatch, and chickadee will occupy nest boxes if they are put up and at least twice as many kinds of smaller birds are known to occupy artificial homes [illegible] formation as to the best types of nest boxes, and bulletins treating all phases of bird attraction methods will be supplied by the department.

They are telling a story characteristic of the late Jim Dunn, owner of the Cleveland Indians as follows

One of Dunn's strongest qualities was loyalty to his players

A friend called him to come down and lunch with him Jim did The friend hemmed and hawed for a while and then said

"Jim one of your pitchers has been drinking'

"How do you know?" said Jim

Well So and So saw him"

'So and So was brought over and confirmed the other man's report.

'Funny thing about that pitcher" said Dunn 'When I signed him he was to have so many sprees a year, and right now he's five sprees behind.'

That ended that.

Look for the Atlantic tank in front of good garages and oil stations.

Two "medium" oils of exactly the same shade, density or flow may develop vastly different characters under the operating conditions of the motor—depending on what they contain and how they are refined.

Ask definitely for ATLANTIC MEDIUM and you'll get a motor oil that holds its body as permanently as it is scientifically possible to make it—a balanced lubricant that contains only the finest heat-resisting hydrocarbons the crude oil affords.

Atlantic Medium resists the thinning influence of the motor's terrific heat—which is far greater than the warmest summer day's temperature. It flows freely to the closest fitting bearing surfaces yet effectually seals the pistons.

Fifty-five years of refining experience and twenty-five years of special study of automotive lubrication assure in Atlantic Medium a correctness and degree of refinement that mean dependable performance at all times.

GIVE TRISTAN DA CUNHA RADIO SET

Lonely Island at Last to Have Outside Communication.

NATIVES ARE IN SAD STATE

Mostly Descendants of Soldiers Who Guarded Napoleon at St Helena—British Possession in South Atlantic Has Only 120 People—Continued Intermarriage Has Produced Some Pitiful Children — People Listless and Without Ambition.

The British island of Tristan da Cunha in the middle of the South Atlantic, with its 120 odd souls mostly descendants of Napoleon's St Helena guards, who hardly hear from civilization more than once in two years, is at last to have a missionary and radio communication.

For more than 18 months an English clergyman named Rogers and his wife have been trying to reach the island from Cape Town, and finally induced the captain of the Japanese steamship Tacoma Maru, which left Cape Town on March 20 for the River Plate, to deviate from his regular course, and land them at Tristan da Cunha.

W. Denis Myers, a passenger on the Tacoma Maru and a lawyer of Cape Town, recently arrived at Montevideo tells of the vessel's call at the island with Mr and Mrs. Rogers, and thinks the population is truly in need of a missionary

Much of Interest.

"The student of evolution the psychologist, as well as the missionary would find much to interest him in this curious, forgotten community says Mr Myers "The settlement originated it is said when a detachment of soldiers who were guarding Napoleon at St Helena, to the north, were dispatched to Tristan da Cunha to forestall the remote possibility that Napoleon might attempt to escape thither Two of the soldiers remained and, importing wives from St Helena laid the foundation of one of the strangest settlements in the world.

From time to time shipwrecked mariners have added to the inhabitants on the island, who have married and intermarried till relationship after a century has become a hopeless tangle Nearly all the present population were born on the island and have a colored strain in their blood. They speak English with a peculiar drawl resembling west of England speech There is one old Italian among them shipwrecked from a sailing vessel, who appears to have forgotten his own name and in fact his mother tongue

"Continued intermarriage has in this generation produced some pitiful children. Some of them are idiots, some lack limbs, some are deaf and dumb The population does nothing agriculturally except to cultivate potatoes. On this food, together with fish and penguin eggs they chiefly exist There are few wild cattle and a few sheep and out of the wool of the latter the women knit rough woolen stockings That is their only manufacture. They wear old clothes, mostly seamen's begged from the ships, usually wandering windjammers that visit the island at rare intervals. There being no commerce, there is no need for money

Attitude Toward Visitors.

The islander's attitude toward visitors is curious As he stands before one his head droops his arms fall listlessly to his side and he answers limply and uninterestedly questions as to his life and mode of existence He seems to have no other interest than to trade a penguin, an albatross skin, or a seal's flapper for an old shirt a little tobacco or anything from civilization that would be useful He articulates slowly and with difficulty as if he had almost forgotten speech I did not see one smile.

"Tristan da Cunha is a mountain 4 000 feet high, rising out of the ocean wastes like an inverted pudding bowl and as we saw it, was wreathed in swirling mists. The little colony lives in stone huts on a green strip of pasture land at the foot of the mountain

"Having no commerce and no money these people certainly cannot worship Mammon but it is doubtful if they worship God The two plucky missionaries who have exiled themselves among them for at least two years will try to teach them They brought large quantities of supplies and civilized comforts and a radio set, so that henceforth Tristan da Cunha will not be cut off entirely from the outside world

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

"LOVE'S REDEMPTION" features Norma Talmadge in a delightful role.

The early part of the story deals with life in Jamaica and to preserve the realism of the story upon the screen the star and an entire company of screen players spent three weeks in the tropics making the exteriors. Interesting sidelights on affairs in the West Indies, features of club and native life on the islands and an insight into the management of a huge sugar plantation covering thousands of acres are carried along in a plot of unusual interest.

Miss Talmadge is unusually attractive in the role of a West Indian girl of Spanish-English origin, whose daring wit saves the life of a run-down youth of splendid ancestry. Her courage and perseverance later on bring his redemption.

The story teems with thrills and heart interest. It was adapted by Anthony Paul Kelly from Andrew Soutar's novel "On Principle."

Wednesday and Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Carter DeHaven will be seen in "The Girl in the Taxi."

THE PARAMOUNT

"HOME TALENT," a five reel Mack Sennett production is the feature picture today.

The story is simple, direct and full of realized comic values relating the adventures of two teams of stranded vaudeville players. Romance is brought forward in the person of the charming Phyllis Haver, whose father in the story (Charlie Murray) runs the country hotel in which the actors are stranded. Ben Turpin, James Finlayson, Eddie Gribbon and Kalla Pasha constitute the vaudevillians and it is they who concoct the play within a play wherein ancient Rome is visualized by Abbe with the assistance of an army of beautiful girls.

Dot Farley has the characteristic role of a spinster from Paris with romantic notions and on whose frail charms the eyes of Murray rest with tenderness.

It is a great story, well worked out and adorned with some of the most beautiful sequences of scenes ever screened. It will surprise the writer if it is not found that Mack Sennett in motion picture photography has blazed a new path in the artistic realm of Screenland.

Wednesday and Thursday "Foolish Matrons" will be shown.

THE ORPHEUM.

"SOWING THE WIND," the leading picture today and tomorrow at this theatre presents Anita Stewart in a stellar role. The story concerns Rosamond, who [illegible] into the evil environment of a gambling dive over which presides her [illegible] Ealy Brabant, who is later revealed as the girl's mother. Her flight from the den of orgies and her subsequent meeting with the man she loves and the accidental finding of her father combine to make a story of sustained suspense, affording Miss Stewart plenty of opportunities to display her emotional qualities. Several thrilling climaxes are claimed for the film and it is further given credit for pointing out something of a moral without going to the extremes of preaching.

The cast supporting Miss Stewart is notably strong, including as it does such brilliant photoplay artists as Ralph Lewis, James Morrison, Myrtle Stedman and William V. Mong.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday Charlie Chaplin will be seen in "The Kid."

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenrhu, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen of Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenrhu, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenrhu decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. Connellsville Drug Store can supply you.—Advertisement.

Railroads Placing Big Orders for Cars

The heavier movement of traffic as a result of the marked improvement in business and the further expansion looked for is responsible for an unusual activity in railway equipment manufacturing, especially this year as compared with a year ago. Up to June 1922 the latest report available, railway executives estimate that freight cars ordered in the country totalled approximately 83,000, or about three times the cars purchased in the full twelve months of 1921.

New orders of railway cars in the last few days have totaled about 4,000 and there are now out in the market for about 10,000 more. If these are definitely placed before the end of June it will mean that approximately 85,000 new freight cars will have been ordered in the first half year, or at an annual rate of 150,000 cars.

MISS LULU BETT

by Zona Gale

Illustrations by Irwin Myers

Copyright by D. APPLETON AND COMPANY.

Toward the end of their week's absence the letter from Ninian came.

Lulu took it from the post office when she went for the mail that evening, dressed in her dark red gown. There was no other letter, and she carried that one letter in her hand all through the streets. She passed those who were surmising what her story might be, who were telling one another what they had heard. But she knew hardly more than they. She passed Cornish in the doorway of his little music shop, and spoke with him; and there was the letter. It was so that Dwight's foster mother's postal card might have looked on its way to be mailed.

Cornish stepped down and overtook her.

"Oh, Miss Lulu, I've got a new song or two—"

She said abstractedly: "Do. Any night. Tomorrow night—could you—"

"Oh, No," Lulu Disclaimed It. She Looked Up, Flushed, Smiling.

It was as if Lulu were too preoccupied to remember to be ill at ease.

Cornish flushed with pleasure said that he could indeed.

"Come for supper," Lulu said.

Oh, could he? Wouldn't that be . . . Well, say! Such was his acceptance.

He came for supper. And Di was not at home. She had gone off in the country with Jenny and Bobby, and they merely did not return.

Mrs. Bett and Lulu and Cornish and Monona supped alone. All were at ease, now that they were alone. Especially Mrs. Bett was at ease. It became one of her young nights, her alive and lucid nights. She was there. She sat in Dwight's chair and Lulu sat in Ina's chair. Lulu had picked flowers for the table—a task coveted by her but usually performed by Ina. Lulu had now picked Sweet William and had filled a vase of silver gilt taken from the parlor. Also, Lulu had made ice cream.

"I don't see what Di can be thinking of," Lulu said. "It seems like asking you under false—" She was afraid of "pretenses" and ended without it.

Cornish savored his steaming beef pie, with sage. "Oh, well!" he said, contentedly.

"Kind of a relief, I think, to have her gone," said Mrs. Bett, from the fullness of something or other.

"Mother!" Lulu said, twisting her smile.

"Why, my land, I love her," Mrs. Bett explained, "but she wiggles and chitters."

Cornish never made the slightest effort, at any time, to keep a straight face. The honest fellow now laughed loudly.

"Well!" Lulu thought. "He can't be so very much in love." And again she thought: "He doesn't know anything about the letter. He thinks Ninian got tired of me." Deep down in her heart there abode her certainty that this was not so.

By some etiquette of consent, Mrs. Bett cleared the table and Lulu and Cornish went into the parlor. There lay the letter on the drop-leaf sidetable, among the shells. Lulu had carried it there, where she need not see it at her work. The letter looked no more than the advertisement of dental office furniture beneath it. Monona stood indifferently fingering both.

"Monona," Lulu said sharply, "leave them be!"

Cornish was displaying his music. "Got up quite attractive," he said—it was his formula of praise for his music.

"But we can't try it over," Lulu said. "If Di doesn't come."

"Well, say," said Cornish shyly, "you know I left that Album of Old Favorites here. Some of them we know by heart."

Lulu looked. "I'll tell you something," she said; "there's some of these I can play with one hand—by ear. Maybe—"

"Why, sure!" said Cornish.

Lulu sat at the piano. She had on the wool chally, long sacred to the [illegible] when she must combine her servant's estate with the quality of being Ina's sister. She wore her coral beads and her cameo [illegible]. In her absence she had caught the trick of dressing her hair so that it looked even more abundant—but she had not dared to try it so until tonight, when Dwight was gone. Her long wrist was curved high, her thin hand pressed and fingered awkwardly, and at her mistakes her head dipped and strove to make all right. Her foot continuously touched the loud pedal—the blurred sound seemed to accomplish more. So she played "How Can I Leave Thee," and they managed to sing it. So she played "Long, Long Ago," and "Little Nell of Narragansett Bay." Beyond open doors, Mrs. Bett listened, sang, it may be, with them; for when the singers ceased, her voice might be heard still humming a loud closing bar.

"Well!" Cornish cried to Lulu; and then, in the formal village phrase: "You're quite a musician."

"Oh, no!" Lulu disclaimed it. She looked up, flushed, smiling. "I've never done this in front of anybody," she owned. "I don't know what Dwight and Ina'd say. . . ." She drooped.

They rested and miraculously, the air of the place had stirred and quickened, as if the crippled, halting melody had some power of its own, and poured this forth, even thus trampled.

"I guess you could do 'most anything you set your hand to," said Cornish.

"Oh, no," Lulu said again.

"Sing and play and cook—"

"But I can't earn anything. I'd like to earn something." But this she had not meant to say. She stopped, rather frightened.

"You would! Why, you have it fine here, I thought."

"Oh, fine, yes. Dwight gives me what I have. And I do their work."

"I see," said Cornish. "I never thought of that," he added. She caught his speculative look—he had heard a tale or two concerning her return, as who in Warbleton had not heard?

"You're wondering why I didn't stay with him," Lulu said recklessly. This was no less than wrung from her, but its utterance occasioned in her an unspeakable relief.

"Oh, no," Cornish disclaimed, and colored and rocked.

"Yes, you are," she swept on. "The whole town's wondering. Well, I'd like 'em to know, but Dwight won't let me tell."

Cornish frowned, trying to understand.

"'Won't let you'?" he repeated. "I should say that was your own affair."

"No. Not when Dwight gives me all I have."

"Oh, that—" said Cornish. "That's not right."

"No. But there it is. It puts me—you see what it does to me. They think—they all think my—husband left me."

It was curious to hear her bring out that word—tentatively, deprecatingly, like some one daring a foreign phrase without warrant.

Cornish said feebly: "Oh, well. . . ."

Before she willed it, she was telling him:

"He didn't. He didn't leave me," she cried with passion. "He had another wife." Incredibly it was as if she were defending both him and herself.

"Lord sakes!" said Cornish.

She poured it out, in her passion to tell some one, to share her news of her state where there would be neither hardness nor censure.

"We were in Savannah, Georgia," she said. "We were going to leave for Oregon—going to go through California. We were in the hotel, and he was going out to get the tickets. He started to go. Then he came back. I was sitting the same as there. He opened the door again—the same as here. I saw he looked different—and he said quick: 'There's something you'd ought to know before we go.' And, of course, I said, 'What?' And he said it right out—how he was married eighteen years ago and in two years she ran away and she must be dead, but he wasn't sure. He hadn't the proofs. So, of course, I came home. But it wasn't him left me."

"No, no. Of course he didn't," Cornish said earnestly. "But, Lord's sakes—" he said again. He rose to walk about, found it impracticable and sat down.

"That's what Dwight don't want me to tell—he thinks it isn't true. He thinks—he didn't have any other wife. He thinks he wanted—" Lulu looked up at him. "You see," she said, "Dwight thinks he didn't want me."

"But why don't you make your husband—I mean, why doesn't he write to Mr. Deacon here, and tell him the truth—" Cornish burst out.

Under this implied belief, she relaxed and into her face came its rare sweetness.

"He has written," she said. "The letter's there."

He followed her look, scowled at the two letters.

"What'd he say?"

"Dwight don't like me to touch his mail. I'll have to wait till he comes back."

"Lord sakes!" said Cornish.

This time he did rise and walk about. He wanted to say something, wanted it with passion. He paused beside Lulu and stammered:

"You—you—you're too nice a girl to get a deal like this. Darned if you aren't."

To her own complete surprise Lulu's eyes filled with tears, and she could not speak. She was by no means above self-sympathy.

Crepes of Silk or Cotton Best in Dresses

The Paris correspondent of the Dry Goods Economist writes that in so far as fashions are concerned, the great predominating and conspicuous note at all the races has been the use of printed crepes and chiffons.

White crepes, printed in close, allover outline patterns in black, took precedence, followed by colored crepes printed in a darker tone. Landscape effects were particularly noticeable.

After white came black grounds printed in red. Bali printed in taupe also was a noteworthy combination, and many white crepes printed in fancy striped effects in black and scarlet and in black and yellow also were noted.

Embroidered cotton goods were near in favor to printed silk crepes, and were featured in many new and charming designs. Many metal embroidered linen batistes were noted, also colored linens embroidered in contrasting color and in ecru.

White fur was extensively used as a trimming on white sport frocks in silk crepes, for short coats, and as a trimming on black capes. Monkey had little or no representation.

A certain revival of interest in white mousquetaire gloves worn with short sleeved, white crepe dresses was noted. This is noteworthy as it is the first time in several seasons that the long, white, mousquetaire gloves have been seen.

Interesting as well, was the increased amount of colored glace kid pumps which were worn, notably glace kid in a very dark shade of tete de negre.

Causes of Blindness In the United States

Special to The Courier.

WASHINGTON, August 1.—The Department of Commerce announces results of the inquiry into the causes of blindness, made in connection with the 1920 census.

Schedules were mailed to all persons reported in 1920 as blind. Of the 52,567 blind enumerated, there were 40,917 who returned these schedules. Of these 35,788 reported the cause of blindness.

In 13,816 or 38.6 per cent of these 35,788 cases for whom the cause was reported, the blindness was caused by some specific disease of the eye such as cataract or glaucoma; and in 25.7 per cent it was a result of some general disease such as measles, meningitis or scarlet fever. Accident accounted for 5,913 cases, or 16.5 per cent of the total. There were 1,120 persons in this number whose blindness was caused by explosives or firearms.

Cataract, the leading cause, was reported by [illegible] or 13.7 per cent. Glaucoma, which ranked next, was reported by 1,932, or 5.4 per cent. Atrophy of the optic nerve was given as the cause by [illegible], or 4.9 per cent.

Ophthalmia neonatorum, or "babies' sore eyes," was reported by 1,198, or 3.3 per cent of the total number reporting. That there has been a marked decrease in the relative amount of blindness due to this disease is indicated by recent statistics of admission to schools for the blind which show that only 14.7 per cent of the new students admitted in 1917-1918 were reported as blind from ophthalmia, as against 24.2 per cent of the students then attending who had entered in previous years. This decrease reflects the more general adoption of scientific methods of treatment, and especially the routine use of silver nitrate drops in the eyes of infants.

The campaign to eliminate trachoma appears also to be meeting with success as trachoma and "sore eyes" (which is usually, in fact, trachoma) together were reported by only three per cent of the total for 1920, as against 6.2 per cent for 1910.

Nearly Died on Birthday

"On my last birthday, eight months ago, I had another close call. We had just finished dinner. My stomach began to hurt me, a minute later I lay unconscious. Three doctors worked on me. I was soaked with a cold sweat when I came to. The next week, telling a friend about it and he advised taking Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. Since taking a course of your medicine I have been able to eat anything. I have no more pains or bloating, and am feeling better than for 10 years." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. A. A. Clarke and druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

CAVALRY STATIONED AT MORGANZA BASKS IN NATURAL BEAUTY

Hard for Trooper to Realize He Is Patrolling Trouble Zone.

HISTORIC NEIGHBORHOOD

Once Home of Colonel Morgan, Hero of Revolution; Roads to Mines Are Quiet; Lanes Far Different From the Dusty Highways Expected.

By Associated Press

MORGANZA, Aug 1—Pennsylvania Cavalrymen sent into Washington county for service in the coal regions have had little leisure to admire the beauties of this wonderful agricultural and mineral district although officers and men of the Chambersburg troop never tire congratulating themselves on drawing the prize camp site.

When the troop under command of Captain R O Dunkle turned off from the Pittsburg Canonsburg pike after a hot dusty ride from [illegible] headquarters at Cokeburg they [illegible] into the square [illegible] farm of the Pennsylvania Training School whose precious lawns and splendid buildings were a far cry from the drab little mining village they expected to find. Winding their way up the hill the [illegible] Superintendent Frank Penn who guided them to watering troughs where horses and men were refreshed while scores of sturdy youngsters once the bad boys of Western Pennsylvania looked on in enthusiastic wonder. [illegible] too know military life for Mr Penn has established that system in his institution and for the first time in their lives they are looking on a part of the real game at which they were wont to play. More than one blue clad boy straightened up from his [illegible] and stiffening to attention saluted the tired trooper.

Mr Penn who had been expecting the troop led them to a bend in Little Chartiers creek which flows through the farm and showed them a wooded elevation just off the highway which for the present was to be their home. Captain Dunkle was installed in a neat little farm cottage with such conveniences as a telephone and the men soon had their tents in position.

The next day the soldiers learned that the nearest coal mine was two miles away and for the time being they were to look on one of the finest farming sections in the State. The roads they were ordered to patrol led them [illegible] often [illegible] some wooded hollow where the [illegible] as complete [illegible] his [illegible] resources [illegible] removed [illegible] the trouble zone.

The camp is on historic ground. Many years ago it was the home of Colonel Morgan a Revolutionary War hero who commanded the important frontier post at Canonsburg. It was to Colonel Morgan [illegible] on Burr went after he had shot Alexander Hamilton and confided his wild [illegible] of a Southwestern kingdom of [illegible]. Colonel Morgan listened in [illegible] and then drove him from the [illegible] at the same time sending a courier post haste to [illegible] to apprise [illegible] of the [illegible] on the plot. The old Morgan house now little more than a wreck stands near the camp and is an object of much interest.

[illegible] have learned from their [illegible] the [illegible] that this is the [illegible] time that soldiers [illegible] to preserve [illegible] in Washington county [illegible] the Whiskey Rebellion the first armed resistance against the American Constitution. The center of the [illegible] was at Canonsburg the nearest town of any importance to the camp.

The Pennsylvania Training School [illegible] a source of unending interest to the troopers. It was founded by the [illegible] for the training of delinquent boys and girls and now has a population of about 500 boys and half as many girls. The farm is a model of productive agricultural enterprise [illegible] work [illegible] and school [illegible] the best engineering [illegible] are given [illegible] in domestic science general [illegible] designed to make them useful. All the boys and girls are taught [illegible] Mr Penn and his [illegible] that [illegible] infectious [illegible] that discipline [illegible] is the best rule of conduct [illegible] result is seen in a happy [illegible] community where there [illegible] and where the honor system [illegible] the highest attainment.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN SKIN AND BLEACH FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White which any drug [illegible] will supply for a few cents [illegible] shake well and you have a quarter pint of [illegible] less and delightful lemon bleach. [illegible] this sweetly [illegible] into the face [illegible] neck arms and hands each day [illegible] to the [illegible] white [illegible] your skin.

Famous [illegible] lotion to [illegible] and [illegible] clear [illegible] complexion [illegible]

Boat Rocker's Antics Revives Interest in Resuscitation Rules

Special to The Courier

WASHINGTON Aug 1—Now that the antics of the merry boat rocker and the incautious canoeist are cluttering the front pages of the newspapers with the details of numerous accidents interest attaches to instructions just issued by the United States Bureau of Mines for resuscitation in cases of drowning.

As soon as the victim is taken from the water place him face downward clasp your hands under his stomach and lift him several times letting his face hang down so as to drain his mouth and throat says the bureau. Remove from his mouth any foreign bodies such as tobacco false teeth or gum. Do not stop to loosen his clothing. Do not carry him any distance. Do not wait for a doctor. Treat him yourself by a lifesaving respiration methods as given below.

Lay the victim on his belly with his face to one side so that his nose and mouth are free for breathing. [illegible] one arm straight out beyond his head [illegible] the other under his head. This position is important as it helps to expand the lungs. Have the head a little lower than the body.

Kneel straddling the victim's thighs and facing his head [illegible] the palms of your hands on [illegible] short ribs with your thumbs parallel with the [illegible] and about two inches [illegible] with fingers spread out as much as possible.

With arms held straight swing forward slowly so that the weight of your body is gradually but not violently brought to bear upon the victim. This act should take about two seconds. Then leaving your hands in place swing back very slowly so as to remove the pressure thus returning for two seconds to your first position.

Repeat deliberately [illegible] times a minute the swinging forward and backward [illegible] respiration in about four seconds. Keep the movements in time with your own breathing.

While the artificial respiration is being continued have an assistant draw forward the victim's tongue if it has fallen back (fortunately it usually falls forward when the victim lies face down). Hold the tongue out if it tends to draw back by wrapping a handkerchief around it. The handkerchief may also protect the assistant's fingers from [illegible]. The assistant should also loosen any tight clothing around the victim's neck, chest or waist.

TIGHT WRIST WATCH WARNING

Neuritis in the Fingers and Hands Has Been Traced to the Pressure on Nerves

Be careful not to bind the strap of your wrist watch too tight. Several cases of neuritis in the fingers and hands has been traced [illegible] the cause. Dr John S [illegible] tells in the Lancet of a student who experienced the [illegible] pains along the inner borders of the [illegible] and in the little finger. These had persisted for [illegible] time and caused [illegible] On examination a tender [illegible] was [illegible] on the dorsal surface of the [illegible] process of the [illegible] and [illegible] in the situation [illegible] that point into the [illegible] cutaneous branch of the ulnar nerve. There was no sign of paresis or atrophy of any of the intrinsic muscles of the hand nor were any trophic changes found. On investigating the cause for this localized neuritis the only possibility suggested to [illegible] the wearing of a tight wristlet watch which [illegible] could produce [illegible] of the [illegible] cutaneous branch of the ulnar nerve as it curves around the lower extremity of the ulna. On discarding the wristlet the discomfort gradually disappeared.

Where Winter and Summer Meet

There is an automobile circle trip out of Denver that takes the traveler from temperate to Arctic climes within a few hours, calls for an overcoat in the middle of summer and affords opportunity for the picking of wild flowers among the snow banks.

INSPECTION OF MINERS' CAMPS MADE BY STATE

C. R. Potteiger, Located in Connellsville, in Charge of Work.

COVERS MANY COUNTIES

Cooperation of Officials of United Mine Workers and Occupants of Tent Colonies Solicited; Not a Police Measure, Says Commissioner.

HARRISBURG Aug 1 — Camp colonies occupied by homeless miners in the western part of the state are being inspected by sanitary engineers of the State Department of Health. This is to prevent outbreak of contagious disease by seeing that each camp has an adequate water supply and proper methods of sewage and garbage disposal.

The Commissioner of Health said, "This is not a police measure. Regardless of any issue it is our duty to afford these people the public health protection due them as residents of Pennsylvania."

Assistant Engineer C R Potteiger is in charge of this work with headquarters at Connellsville. C E [illegible] chief engineer is also in the field.

Armstrong, Indiana, Allegheny, Westmoreland, Washington, Greene and [illegible] counties are covered by Inspectors [illegible] and [illegible]. Beaver, Butler, Lawrence, Clarion and Jefferson counties by Assistant Engineer [illegible] Blair, Somerset and Bedford by Assistant Engineer [illegible]

[illegible] have been sent to the county medical directors of the state asking that they notify the department of camps located in their districts. [illegible] have been inspected and information is received daily of others.

Mr [illegible] states that as camps are inspected arrangements are made with local health authorities to reinspect each week if necessary to secure compliance with suggestions but [illegible] the miners and their leaders [illegible] willingly cooperated. L S [illegible] reports that he got in touch with John O'Leary member of national [illegible] United Mine Workers of [illegible] directed him to Will [illegible] in charge of [illegible] and sanitation for Western Pennsylvania [illegible] United Mine Workers of America with headquarters at Brownsville. Henderson not only offered to cooperate but sent [illegible] to a number of camps in order to know just what the state wanted and how he could best carry out the suggestions of the inspectors.

Mind Conquers Matter

Have you heard the latest Coue story? A man with bandy legs called to see the great specialist not of healing by suggestion.

After an examination the doctor said: "Yes they can be cured. Massage them every night and before you go to sleep say 'My legs are getting less and less bandy' a hundred and fifty times."

Full of hope the man went home. That night he carried out the massage treatment but he could not remember just how many times he had to repeat the magic words. He knew it was something and fifty so to make sure, he recited the phrase three hundred and fifty times.

Next morning he found that he was knock kneed.

Death Rate Already Too High.

The death rate for the first quarter of 1922 among Metropolitan Life policyholders was higher among white policyholders by 5.3 per cent and among colored policyholders by 6.6 per cent than for the same quarter of 1921. This was due very largely to the effects of epidemic influenza. There are nevertheless many favorable items in the figures for the quarter. The outstanding one is the continued low mortality from tuberculosis. The unfavorable developments in addition to the much higher rates for influenza and pneumonia, are [illegible] for organic heart disease, cerebral hemorrhage and chronic nephritis. A higher rate was also reported for automobile accidents.

HAVE ONLY DUDS THAT FOLD WELL

There Are Many Sorts of Clothes Suitable for the Summer Vacation Trip.

THE USEFUL BOUDOIR WRAP

Garment Serves for Bath Robe but Can Be Used for Room Gown—Hand Made Dress and Cape to Match

These are travelling days for everybody. But how to do the journeying without all the trunks and bags and hat boxes in the world is one of those problems not so easy to solve.

The woman who starts off on her summer vacation burdened with too many dress and hat carriers is bound to have some unhappy moments before she has finished her holidays. She will be far wiser, states a fashion writer in the New York Times, to study out her needs before she starts away and indulge right from the start in the process of elimination. She can be well dressed in a small space just as efficiently as she can by taking up all the room in her vicinity. It is only necessary to take the right things and the most foldable things along with her.

There are plenty of pretty clothes that really have no place in a traveler's luggage unless that traveler is equipped with a maid or two and pressing facilities galore. Those dresses might just as well remain at home when the average woman is doing her tripping, for they will be of little or no use to her once she has wrested their tangled meshes from the crowded masses of her trunk. Ruffles will not withstand packing unless they are coaxed back to life through the expenditure of much time and energy. And who wants to expend these valuable possessions when off for a summer splurge?

On the other hand there are so many sorts of clothes, especially among the present styles, that seem fitted by nature to go traveling. They telescope themselves without any assistance and they come out from the confines of tightly packed luggage looking their own charming selves.

Plan for Comfort.

Naturally these are the frocks to be chosen for the summer if one is planning with the least foresight and care for one's ultimate comfort. All of the crepe and chiffon dresses which are so important a part of the present summer wardrobe fold into small spaces with the greatest of ease and grace. In the first place they are cut along such straight and simple lines that they fairly beg to be packed just to show how particularly well they can stand the strain. A woman may fold them just as she would lay together a piece of straight material with no more fear that the wrinkles will be noticeable when the dress is dragged from the trunk.

The silk and chiffon materials are woven with such great art and care that they take to packing with no more terror than if they were meant for that alone. In other words they have such body and flexibility that they need fear no wrinkles or permanent folds and the owner need fear none for them. She is safe when she keeps to these materials for they are so adaptable that they will stand her in good stead no matter what demands may be made upon them.

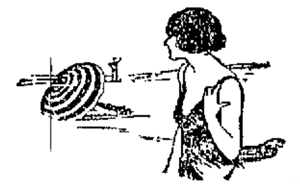
There is much in the way the gowns are cut. The simpler they are the better. For if there is too much draping about them then they are let in for extra creasings which may not be so good after much traveling about. But the straight lines hold their small plaits so naturally that they emerge without showing the traces of packing.

Of course, every woman needs a boudoir wrap of some sort wherever she is going or whatever she is doing. Not only will it serve for a bath robe but it can be used for a room gown as well.

The Kimono of Printed Crepe That Will Serve Many Purposes After It Has Been Extracted From the Packing Case

Near Calico Design

The material from which it has been made is one of these crepes printed in a fine pattern. This one happens to be red and white. It is almost a calico design. It is cut and designed so that it covers the person and at the same time its material is cool and pleasant to the touch even on the hottest of summer days. It has been lined with a red Japanese silk and that lining is carried out at the front so that it forms a sort of revers all the way to the foot of the garment. This facing then continues throughout the garment, so that it helps to give form and substance to the thing and at the same time adds so little extra weight and bulk that it is scarcely appreciable. At the places where the gown splits and opens the red lining can be seen through the interstices, and that alone tends to give a trimmed gala appearance which is most attractive and which breaks the general design of the all-over pattern in an interesting manner.



SUNBURN

Eased by Vicks, or Prevented Entirely

If your skin is so tender that you expect sunburn, rub it well with Vicks before exposure.

After sunburn, apply Vicks gently—do not rub in. It soothes the tortured skin and often prevents blistering.

For any outdoor vacation, Vicks is "standard equipment." It eases attacks of hay fever, asthma, catarrh and summer colds.

It's fine, too, for sore muscles, tired feet, poison oak, or ivy, and for bites and stings.

TAKE VICKS ON YOUR VACATION

"The Remedy of 100 uses"

VICKS VAPORUB

OVER 17 MILLION JARS USED YEARLY

One never knows until one owns a garment of this sort—midway between the wrapper and the housegown—what a comfort it can be on a trip. Something of this sort comes to mean comfort in a way nothing else could. Every time the owner puts it on she will thank a kind Providence for having led her to the decision that brought that particular article of apparel into her wardrobe.

Hand Made Silk Dress With Cape to Match and Collapsible Hat Designed to Fold Easily Into Summer Baggage

The handmade dress and cape to match is the sort of thing that is born for packing. The fabric is a heavy canton crepe and the dress is made along the straightest of lines. There are lines of hemstitching and drawn work for its trimming and there is not a frill or furbelow that can suffer from packing. Anyone who has owned one of these frocks knows how small a place they take up when folded together and how satisfactory they are through many months of wear and tear.

Cape of Same Material

This dress has a cape made of the same material and lined with a light weight crepe de chine. It may be worn with this dress or with others as a light summer evening wrap and for that reason it serves a place in the traveler's wardrobe which cannot easily be taken by any other sort of garment. Presumably the reader has worn a suit while traveling and has carried an extra heavy wrap over her arm but neither the suitcoat nor the outer wrap is going to serve for evening demands with which she will be confronted no matter where she goes. But this wrap can be folded into the smallest of spaces and taken forth on many occasions. Without it a woman would be quite at a loss and if she attempted to pack anything with more weight and body and trimming then she would find herself forced into adding extra luggage to accommodate the extra frills.

Keep the cape simple and the dress simple and half of the traveling battle is fought. And if the reader follows the scheme, she will have a silk suit which can always be worn for afternoon, often for evening and sometimes in the morning hours. Moreover silk is cool, it can stand wet weather and when a colder day makes its appearance the owner can still look well in a silk dress under her heavier coat. There is no angle from which a dress of this character is not satisfactory and this season to be right in the height of style it is desirable to have it made of that cafe au lait color which has taken the place of gray in smart circles. It is a color which goes with most everything and which is becoming to many types.

Avoid Extra Hat Box

By cutting the extra hat box the traveler may save herself all sorts of worry and bother and porter fees. For with only one bag she can in an emergency drag herself and it around but with two the situation becomes hopeless. She will find when she starts to shop that there are all sorts of little and becoming hats that can be folded along with dresses as flat as can be and which will still emerge with none of that mashed appearance. She will live to thank herself for providing herself with this sort of hat instead of [illegible] stiff [illegible] particular [illegible] come forth [illegible] rain or boat trip [illegible] that [illegible] drooping appearance for which there is no equivalent.

There are little soft hats done in bright and interesting colors. Some are made of [illegible] silk and sturdy [illegible] that mash into small places with the greatest agility and come forth to surprise one by their well groomed look.

VEILS OF CREPE DE CHINE

Material Offers More Protection Than Chiffon for Face Covering—Match Hat or Frock

Veils are coming back strong and many of the small traveling hats are wreathed with veils both of the finest French type or of [illegible]. The latest things in veils worn as the sun grows brighter are of [illegible] blue very [illegible] with hemstitched ends, matching in color either the hat or frock, and worn as protection for the skin as being more practical than chiffon or georgette. Some leading society women [illegible] their own very long [illegible] veils from voile printed in gay colors and worn [illegible] with frocks in one of the colors of the veil. One veil in black had [illegible] flowers and green foliage printed upon it to accompany a frock of [illegible]. [illegible] and hat of green [illegible] braid with [illegible] two wax [illegible] flowers [illegible] the brim.

Some large square French veils with open mesh have borders of chiffon hemstitched on and are worn [illegible] the face [illegible] occasionally [illegible] one of these draped [illegible] while over the face is worn a fine French complexion veil. Widows' veils in white chiffon have extremely wide borders of white crepe.

Artistic Curtains

Gray is one of the new tones in high favor for curtains this season. However it is usually combined with more colorful tones.

Prescription That Reduces High Blood Pressure

Used by Buffalo Physician for Many Years With Greatest Success, Connellsville Drug Co. Dispenses It.

Since the beginning of the year druggists of the better class have been selling a vegetable preparation called NORMA, a very successful remedy for reducing high blood pressure to normal.

People who have no appetite, are nervous and [illegible], who have headaches, hot flushes and dizziness [illegible] this have high blood pressure and don't realize it.

Now this is not a cure-all but it will reduce high blood pressure and for that purpose is used by many women at the change of life.

Connellsville Drug Co. or any high class druggists will supply you with NORMA.—Advertisement

WEAR BEADS AND BRACELETS

Women Still Give Preference to Costume Jewelry Which Includes Great Variety

Costume jewelry is the one fad of the season with a leaning toward the semi-precious stones. The Staffordshire pottery beads in their soft colorings have been used and the Wedgwood beads would be popular if they were not so difficult to procure. Rock crystal and onyx or crystal alone is worn by the matron and if [illegible] a dominant note in [illegible] world it is the rival of amber. Never has so much amber been seen as this season and it ranges from the [illegible] amber to the dark [illegible] or [illegible] of clear [illegible] cut beads which fall below the waist. Ivory beads carved and plain and [illegible] coral come next in popularity and those wearing mourning [illegible] the beautiful beads of Whitby.

Some Scotch Cairngorms are worn with their silver mountings and topaz and amethyst settings. A [illegible] of amethyst set in silver makes a very attractive costume decoration while oval unpolished topaz is [illegible] unique. Italian beads [illegible] worn [illegible] silk cord strung [illegible] on [illegible] black [illegible] with [illegible] china pendant for wearing with gingham or voile frocks.

Bracelets run the gamut. [illegible] Chinese bracelets of glass in jade [illegible] and goldstone effect are worn [illegible] times two or three together. [illegible] bracelets are most popular [illegible] bands of fine pearls come next in popularity.

A carved and twisted snake bracelet of dark or false shell is worn with hoop earrings of tortoise shell. Carnelian cut bakelite in vivid scarlet and green has been adopted for wear with [illegible] suits of green and white crepe. Black pearl tassels with [illegible] studded pearl hung from black silk cord are [illegible] for evening wear.

Fancy celluloid girdles matching sweaters in contrasting colors are worn by the younger set and a few [illegible] of cut steel [illegible] held together with fine steel chain are also worn with sweaters and [illegible] dresses. Huge onyx and crystal rings are used for [illegible].

The bead bags [illegible] hung from [illegible] in color are [illegible] those having the [illegible] tops [illegible].

Train Insects to Eat Insects

An ingenious scheme for ridding our gardens of insect pests has been suggested by a Richmond entomologist. His plan is to train harmless insects to kill and eat injurious grubs and flies. Experiments which have been made met with considerable success. It is well known that certain insects are the enemies of other creatures which are garden pests. They lay their eggs in convenient spots, often in the actual nesting places of their enemies, and when the young ones come to life they feed on the eggs. Scientists are attempting to train these insects to feed upon harmful creatures which at present they do not regard as enemies.—London Tit-Bits.

CONVICT HIDES 9 YEARS IN WELL

Escaped Murderer Is Caught After Long Search and Returned to Prison.

TEN YEARS TO SERVE

Dallas, Tex.—After living most of the time nine years in the bottom of a deep well J. A. Owens of Abilene, Taylor county, Tex., is back behind the bars at Huntsville to complete a term which would have been served out had he remained there when he was taken to the penitentiary. As it is he begins his ten year sentence over.

Owens escaped from the penitentiary one day after he was sent there on a murder charge ten years ago from Taylor county.

Lived in Well

Owens made his home at the bottom of a deep dry well on his farm south of Abilene all the time the officers were searching for him. He fixed the well into comfortable living quarters and was never in danger. He remained in the well most of the daytime and came out at night to be with his wife and children. Scores of times the officers have approached the house and searched the place, but they never once thought of taking a trip down in that 70-foot well. Owens was at [illegible] on his bunk and [illegible] room he had furnished on [illegible] the well. But as time went on Owens became careless. And the officers came upon him so suddenly that he was caught in the act of getting in of his underground home, hauled out and started again to the penitentiary.

It was 11 years ago that Owens was charged with murder and finally given ten years in prison. He was a prosperous farmer. When he arrived at the penitentiary he was assigned to his cell. The following day he was missing. Just walked off in broad daylight.

Arranged for Comfort

Owens talked freely of his hiding place at home. He said when he left the prison he went straight home and at once took up his abode in the old well. He said for several months he never came above the surface during the day. He said food was lowered to him in a bucket at night. Owens dug a room back from the well shaft, set up his bed and arranged for his comfort.

Made His Home at the Bottom of a Deep Well

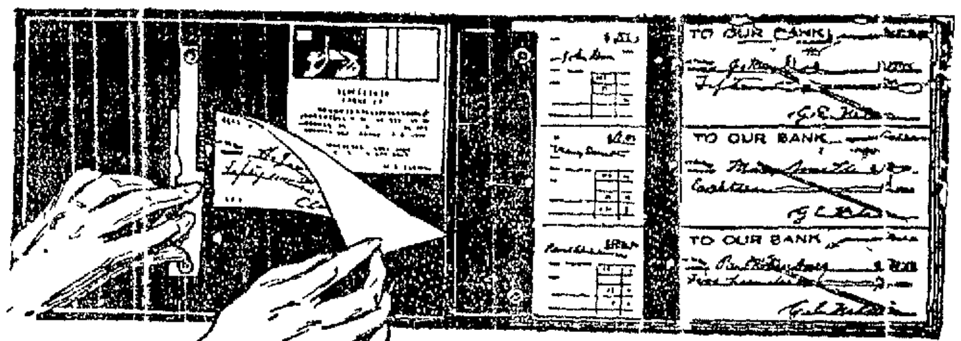
For the last three years he has spent much time on the surface, he said, even to the extent of helping with the work on the farm. [illegible] the officers had given up the hunt and believed him gone. Then he became careless. [illegible] They had been hearing [illegible] home [illegible] for nine years. But they went. They came upon him suddenly. He made a run for the well but they got him. Owens says he will not try to escape this time. He says his family is in good shape and can get along without him so he will stick it out.

Ah, That's Different

Wife—John, I'll have to discharge that cook. She uses such dreadful language.

Hub—What kind of language, dear?

Wife—Well—oh, the same kind you use, you know.



Check Protection without a Machine

Given Without Cost to Our Depositors

TO combat the numerous frauds caused by "raising" checks, we have adopted the Protectu Check System. Each Protectu check has a series of numbers lithographed in indelible ink at the end of each check [like a money order]. By a cutting device provided with each check book, the end can be torn so that the highest amount indicated on the margin of the check represents the maximum amount of check.

This special size business check book, three checks to a page, is suitable for all business firms.

Protectu checks may also be had in two pocket sizes.

If you are considering opening a checking account, by all means come in and see this ADDITIONAL SERVICE that we are giving free to our patrons.

"PROF" ACCUSED OF POISON PLOT

Climax of Feud of Two Years' Standing Between Instructors at University.

ONCE GOOD FRIENDS

Professor in McGill University at Montreal Faces Charge of Attempted Murder Made by Colleague.

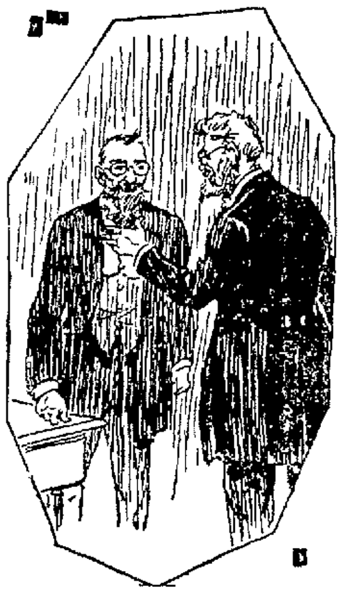
Montreal, Que.—James L. Morin, professor of French in McGill university faces a charge of attempted murder brought by Prof Herman Walter, head of the Maderns department at the same institution. The accused is an ordained minister of the Presbyterian church.

Suppressed since the morning last August when a test of the well at Walter's cottage at Montmagny revealed paris green the story of a remarkable feud between two gray-haired scholars, life long colleagues and once personal friends was revealed here. Preliminary hearings of the case are to be followed by public trial in the Criminal Assizes. Morin has entered a suit for $10 000 damages to his reputation and this case may come up later. For a long period both were suspended by the president of the college, Sir Arthur Currie.

Taught Many Years.

Walter and Morin have taught here for nearly a generation. They occupied adjoining summer homes and were bosom friends until differences at home and college intervened and developed into a feud. Two years ago Walter hinted that Morin had injured his trees and later burned down his cottage. The climax came when one night last summer according to the complainant he suspected tampering with the water supply and warned his son, Felix Walter away from the well. A warrant was sworn out and his neighbor's arrest followed.

President Currie obtained bail and vainly sought a reconciliation. Because of the college staff shortage Walter was recently reinstated and has been teaching. As Walter's father was born in Stuttgart, Germany and Morin is French Canadian differences of a racial nature are considered to be behind the story which may be fully developed at the criminal trial. Differences on professional matters had been known to exist for at least two years but the character of the men was taken to preclude any serious clash.



The Climax Came.

WOULDN'T LET THEM MARRY

Father's Hatred of Wedlock May Have Caused Son to Slay Sister's Suitor.

Madison, Wis—"Thou shalt not marry," was the commandment Hartwell Farwell dictated to his household the police say.

Farwell forbade his sisters, sons and daughters to marry and handed down the heritage of enforcing celibacy in the family to his bachelor son, James.

The son confessed to the murder of Philip Houston when he was about to marry Farwell's sister Alice. Another sister who married was ostracized by the family.

The elder Farwell hated the institution of matrimony and declared it was only justified to escape from starvation.

"I've enough money to take care of my children, so they will not have to marry," he often declared.

Long Courtship

Minneapolis Minn.—After being courted for 63 years Mrs Mary R Woods formerly of Minneapolis the other day was married to William Coburn childhood sweetheart at Los Angeles, Cal. The bride is eighty nine and the groom ninety. The two "kept company" in Dakota county Minnesota, but separated, and afterward both were married. When Coburn's wife and Mrs Woods' husband died 20 years ago, both made their way to California.

Rode Miles to Beat Up Telephone Operator

Angered because he could not get a number on the telephone Ed Smith of Omaha, Ga., rode 12 miles and beat up the operator at Norman Park according to an indictment returned by the grand jury at Moultrie against Smith. The prisoner was released on bail.

SAVES DAD FROM HORNS OF BULL

Seventeen-Year-Old Boy Is Fined by Court for Being Brutal to Animal.

New York.—If a bull attacks a man and the man's son, in order to save his father's life, stabs the bull in the eye with a pitchfork, is the man guilty of cruelty to animals and subject to fine or is the bull guilty and should the man sue the bull's owner for damages? This question must be decided by the Superior court of Connecticut.

Mrs E Trowbridge Lord of Greenwich, Conn., breeder of prize stock is the owner of a valuable champion Guernsey bull, eighteen months old. Recently the bull attacked Ernest Luther, superintendent on Mrs Lord's large estate on King street pinning him against a barn with horns locked around Luther's body.

Luther's son seventeen went to the rescue with a pitchfork but wounded the animal so badly that it may lose the sight of one eye. Young Luther was arraigned in court charged by Mrs Lord with cruelty and was fined $25 and costs by Judge James R Mead. Judge Frederick A. Hubbard counsel for Luther appealed the case and bond was fixed at $100.

Saves Father From Bull

E Trowbridge Lord retired lawyer who is engaged in scientific and industrial investigations recently gave notice to Luther father and son that their wages were to be reduced and they gave notice of intention to quit his employ. The bull Mrs Lord said is a great pet and has won prizes in the West. She curries him herself and is now nursing his wound.

Luther's injuries were not serious.

BURGLAR USES POISON GAS

Blows Drug Through Speaking Tube and Then Robs Home of Unconscious Victim

Chicago.—Chicago's latest is the speaking tube burglar. Summoning an intended victim to the tube he blows poisoned gas into his or her face. He then loots the apartment at his leisure. Police are investigating several complaints of this kind.

"The doorbell rang one afternoon," says Mrs. Frederick Weyland, the first victim to report to the police. "A man answered the speaking tube and told me he had an important matter to discuss with me. Before I could answer I heard a swishing in the tube.

"A gust of wind from the tube struck me in the face. The wind had a sweetish odor and I inhaled it. There was nothing to indicate however that the man had blown powder up through the tube. It must have been a gas of [illegible] kind.

"I became dizzy at once. I groped my way to a window and shouted for help. The man escaped."

KILLS SISTER TO KEEP HUBBY

Wife Shoots Girl as She Sleeps and Calmly Surrenders to Police

Long Branch, N. J.—Mrs. Hermione Kratzman, thirty, arrested in her home, calmly confessed to the police that she had shot and killed her sister, Geraldine Wessels, twenty-six, as she lay sleeping because she feared the younger woman was stealing the love of her husband. Next night she wrote to her husband, who was in New York, telling of the tragedy and adding that she was about to kill their 18-month-old child and herself. Kratzman notified the police.

GIRL IS BURGLAR "QUEEN"

12 Year Old Wore Boy's Clothes, Smoked Cigarettes and Directed Activities of Bandits

Chelsea, Mass.—[illegible] twelve year old girl who planned their raids and divided the loot of boys ranging from nine to fifteen years old, committed more than 50 thefts from homes and stores in Chelsea, Mass., during the last two months according to the police.

Wearing boy's clothing, smoking cigarettes with her pals and on occasion delivering a punch which had plenty of force behind it, the young queen of the gang ruled it with a powerful and firm hand [illegible] leadership over the youthful bandits. It was said by the police that the boys who [illegible] admitted to have committed [illegible] robberies [illegible] flashlights, skeleton keys and jimmies and used them so skillfully that for several weeks the authorities blamed a gang of ex[illegible].

The accused youngster [illegible] said to have [illegible] the most of their [illegible] to the queen who in turn disposed of it through various fences. The girl [illegible] registered as a pupil in one of the grammar schools though she often [illegible] hookey from studies.

MONSTERS OF SEA IN BATTLE

Captain Sees Hundreds of Whales Dying After Desperate Fight With Swordfish

London, England—That the monsters of the [illegible] fight in groups as well as engage in personal encounters, is testified to by Capt. G. Evered Poole, commissioner in the Gold Coast colony, who writes the following to his brother:

"Between Sierra Leone and Sekondi we steamed through for over an hour a blood-red sea and saw hundreds of whales dead or dying on the surface of the water. Some were just able to move slowly along, a few, if any, could move quickly. There must have been a sanguinary battle supposed to have been put up by swordfish.

"It was a most appalling sight and the extent of the blood expanse must have represented the death of many more whales than were visible. No one on our ship had ever seen or even heard of anything approaching such a spectacle before."

Hair Dressing.

In France women are dressing the hair to make the head look as small as possible. The locks are pulled straight back and coiled at the neck with the greatest simplicity. There is a tendency over there to keep the outline of the head small but the hair is arranged softly about the face. This is much more flattering to the average woman.

PEOPLE LEARNING TO SAVE INSTEAD SPEND EARNINGS

Government System Has Aided in Accumulation of $58,000,000 in Six Months.

A STIMULUS TO THRIFT

Under the United States Government Savings System recently adopted approximately $58,000,000 has been saved and invested in the Treasury Savings Certificates during the first six months of this year by the people of this country.

Under the present system, which is an outgrowth of the war time thrift and savings stamp campaign, the securities available are Postal Savings and the new issue of Treasury Savings Certificates, the first offered for deposit, the second for investment.

The underlying idea of this plan is to increase thrift and savings and to provide safe and profitable means for safeguarding the people's money, particularly of those who have not yet formed the habit of dealing with financial institutions. It also aims to draw money that is not in circulation but lying idle in the risky hiding places and therefore to prevent hoarding.

Postal Savings Stamps 10 cent denomination non-interest bearing and Postal Savings Deposits from $1 to $2,500 interest bearing, are offered for deposit under this system. Generally Postal Savings appeal to those who do not have banking connection or are not keenly interested in the rate of interest received but have implicit faith in the government and desire to place their savings with the government for an indeterminate period usually until such time as they desire to purchase a home, enter into business, etc. The funds may be withdrawn on demand at the post office where deposit is made and the account may be transferred without cost between post offices. Likewise Postal Savings deposits may be applied at any time to the purchase of Treasury Savings Certificates, in which event they yield interest even though withdrawn within less than a year.

Treasury Savings Certificates, on the other hand, are offered to those who are interested in securing a fair rate of interest on their money and the absolute guarantee of its safety. These Certificates are in denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000, sold on a discount basis at the flat prices of $20, $80 and $800. They bear interest at the rate of 4½ per cent compounded semi-annually, mature in five years from date of purchase, are registered in every case to protect the owner against loss or theft and are exempt from state and local taxation (except estate and inheritance taxes) and from the normal federal income tax. In case of need the money may be had on demand.

These certificates may be registered in the name of and held by individuals, each member of a firm, corporation, partnership, association or joint stock companies, trustees, two persons in the alternative payable to either person or to the survivor, infant or infant's guardian, beneficiaries—that is, held by one person and upon his death payable to another. Each one is entitled to own up to $5,000 maturity value during one calendar year.

"This system offers an ideal opportunity for savings and investment for the people of all classes, particularly those of moderate means," stated George E. [illegible], director of savings for the Third Federal Reserve District. "The Certificates are growing very popular all over the country. People who never dreamed of letting their surplus cash go out of its hiding place put their funds into this form of securities because it absolutely guarantees their money, which never depreciates but always grows. When I come to think of it, I do not know of any country in the world offering a better system for savings than the United States both through this system and its excellent banking."

Unusually Large Juneberry Tree Near Ligonier

Special to The Courier.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 1.—District Forester [illegible] of Ligonier has notified the Department of Forestry that he recently discovered a shad bush or Juneberry tree of unusual size. The tree measures 56¼ inches about four feet above the ground and 62½ inches in circumference near the base. It is growing along the roadside on the farm of Freeman Matthews, seven miles southeast of Ligonier.

Boy Scouts and officers of the Duquesne council recently spent a night at the Laurel [illegible] Public Camp Ground which was developed this spring by the Department of Forestry. The lean-to was overcrowded so that the boys slept in the open. This camp ground is open for the free use of the public.

Perryopolis

PERRYOPOLIS, Aug. 1.—Mr. and Mrs. William Essington and son Billie and Misses Ruth Bryan and Alice Stilley were shopping at Connellsville Saturday.

DESIGN THAT IS MUCH IN FAVOR

Story-and-a-Half House Is Always Easy to Dispose Of.

SIZE AND SHAPE APPEAL

This Model Combines Exterior Attractiveness and Interior Comfort, and It Is Not Expensive to Build.

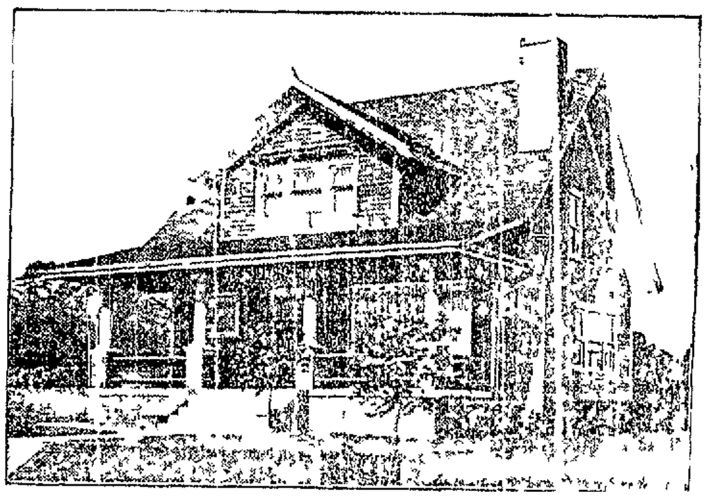
By WILLIAM A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

When the average family begins to plan to build a new home every member has some idea that he or she would like to see incorporated in the house. In some other home, perhaps, such a feature as appealed to the individual was found and gave rise to the thought that when or if he was to build he would have this feature in his home. It is this desire that makes so many homes entirely different from others.

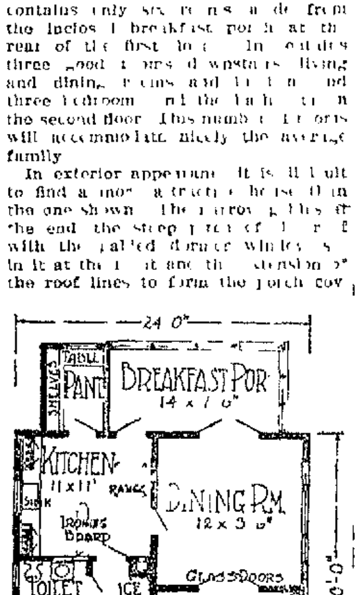
There is danger, however, in carrying this idea too far. Odd features either in the exterior or interior of a house may not appeal to someone else and, if the necessity arises, may prevent the sale of the house. Comfort and convenience may be secured by the average family by following the plans that have been found most suitable to the average family. And when this is done it is not difficult to dispose of the place if it is desirable to do so.

One type of house that appeals to the greatest number of persons is the "story and a half" building, such as is shown in the accompanying illustration.



Here is a house of the size and shape that appeals. While it is large from the outside it contains only six rooms aside from the inclosed breakfast porch at the rear of the first floor. In all there are three good rooms downstairs, living and dining rooms and kitchen, and three bedrooms and the bath on the second floor. This number of rooms will accommodate nicely the average family.

In exterior appearance it is difficult to find a more attractive house than the one shown. The narrow gables at the end, the steep pitch of the roof with the gabled dormer windows set in it at the front and the extension of the roof lines to form the porch covering all combine to give this house a graceful homelike appearance. The exterior appearance is greatly enhanced by the brick foundation and piers of the porch and the wide brick fireplace chimney in the end wall. The porch is inviting in summer while the chimney gives rise to thoughts of a comfortable open fire in the winter time.

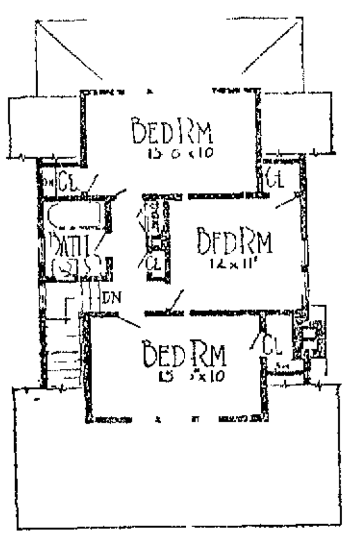


First Floor Plan.

The floor plans that accompany the exterior view show how the rooms are arranged and their sizes. The entrance door off the porch leads into a reception room, out of which run the stairs to the second floor. To the right through double glazed doors is the living room, 12 by 15 feet in size. Three windows opening onto the porch and the high windows on either side of the fireplace admit plenty of light and ventilation. The wide fireplace at the end of the room with bookcases on either side under the windows adds to the attractiveness of the room's finish.

Back of the living room is the dining room, also a light cheery room, 12 by 13 feet 6 inches in dimensions. And opening off the dining room and connected with it [illegible] is a large inclosed breakfast porch, 14 feet long and 7 feet 6 inches wide. This [illegible] sun parlor.

Adjoining the dining room at the left is the kitchen, 11 feet square, whose [illegible] of it will [illegible] place where the [illegible] kitchen activities [illegible] with [illegible] placed under [illegible] window in the outside wall [illegible]



Second Floor Plan.

[illegible] on three sides [illegible] the [illegible] entrance leads [illegible] a passageway which is large enough for [illegible] and has [illegible] for the linens [illegible] in the living room and kitchen. Back of the kitchen also is a good size pantry.

The stairs lead into a short hall on the second floor off which open the three bedrooms, one at the front, one at the side and one at the [illegible]. The bathroom is located in the center of this floor so that it is accessible to all three bedrooms. Both front and rear bedrooms are 13 feet 6 inches by 10 feet while the one at the end of the house is 11 by 12 feet.

[illegible] what [illegible] stairs just in [illegible] the [illegible]

[illegible] this is a very desirable house [illegible] design [illegible] that combines exterior attractiveness and interior comfort and it is not expensive to build.

ONLY THE BEAUTIFUL IS ART

Distortion and Ugliness, Which May Be Summed Up as Untruths, Are Its Opposite

[illegible] of art [illegible] the art which is intrinsically and earth [illegible] proportioned—and without beauty there [illegible] art. Ugliness is untrue to art. All distortion is ugliness—untruth—and that [illegible] art. Art is the [illegible] of the concrete with the [illegible] which [illegible] always [illegible] the [illegible] of the soul of man [illegible] not true art. The [illegible] of beauty may [illegible] cloud the face of the sun but [illegible] desire for it—for that beauty which [illegible] uplifts—is at the core [illegible] of man [illegible] always [illegible] and that [illegible] which feeds upon beauty will [illegible] its [illegible] both in the [illegible] of [illegible] and in the externalization of the inspiration.—[illegible] in The Musical Basis of Verse.

WILL MAKE GAS ON THE FARM

Flivver Fuel Can Be Manufactured by the Farmer From His Waste Products.

In a few years many kinds of farm waste will be converted successfully into liquid or gasoline fuel, writes Lloyd W. Parsons in the World's Work. To some time alcohol has been manufactured in large quantities from blackstrap molasses, but now we find that it is possible to obtain 150 pounds of potash from each ton of this low grade molasses in addition to the liquid fuel. During the war the price of potash averaged as high as $1,000 a ton.

Federal chemists have found it possible to obtain gas by the distillation of wheat, oat and rye straws. It is not too much to expect that one day straw gas and gas made from corn stalks, corn cobs and other vegetable matter will be used by farmers to supply light and heat for their homes, power for their stationary engines and fuel for their tractors and motorcars. Fifty pounds of straw will produce 300 cubic feet of gas—an amount sufficient to drive a light [illegible] 17 miles. The next step in [illegible] experimental work will be the perfection of a method of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Don't Be Fooled — —

"FOOL me once," says the proverb, "and it's shame on you. Fool me twice and it's shame on me."

Don't be fooled when it comes to spending your money. Patronize the merchants who have a reputation for fair dealing and honesty. Such motives must actuate the consistent advertiser. The man who invests real money in building a reputation for himself and his merchandise cannot afford to risk any of it taking unfair advantage of his patrons.

The consistent advertiser pays money to tell you about his goods. He knows they are good. He backs them with his money because he believes they will satisfy. Only merchandise which is consistently good can be consistently advertised.

So advertising protects you against fraud and inferiority. It tells you what is new and good, making you a wise buyer. It saves you money by pointing out for your consideration only the best products and the best places to buy them.

Thrifty men and women read the advertisements. To them it is a plain every-day business proposition— a duty they owe to themselves and to their pocketbooks.

Don't be fooled.

ACCEPT PRINCE'S CREED IN HAWAII

Organize to Carry Out Rules of Late Congressman.

BASED ON LOYALTY TO U. S.

Education Is Particularly Stressed In Ten Commandments With Obedience to the Law and Frugality—Must Conserve the Lands for the Race and for Posterity—Plan to Raise $150,000 for Endowment for Higher Education of Hawaiians

The wishes of the late Prince Jonah Kuhio Kalanianaole, Hawaii's delegate to congress for twenty years, regarding the conduct and lives of his people will be carried out by members of the Puuhonua society, founded by a group of leading Hawaiians, according to resolutions adopted at the organization meeting.

The first endeavor of the society will be to obtain $150,000 to found the Kuhio endowment fund for the higher education of Hawaiian youths, to assist older persons to obtain lands, to aid in the establishment of hospitals and schools and to act as an eleemosynary, educational and philanthropical organization for the native race.

The Ten Commandments

Ten commandments were laid down for the conduct of Hawaiians. They consisted of advice that had been given by the late Prince [illegible].

"Thou shalt also [illegible] Hawaii and keep alive the American institutions in this thy native country. The burden is upon you. The other races come and go, whereas we are born only to die—we have no longings for other places.

"Thou shalt love thy race and love thy land or you will be an outcast. You must be a true Hawaiian before you can become a true American.

"Thou shalt conserve the lands for the race and incidentally for thy posterity.

"Thou shalt support the Hawaiian Homes commission in making a success of the rehabilitation of thy race on the land of Hawaii.

"Thou shalt provide financial assistance for the education and the breeding of thy boys and girls on the mainland. The competition is keen and will be more so in the future.

"Thou shalt strive to control the production of the foodstuffs and prepare thine own poi from taro cooked at thy home.

No Race Suicide

"Thou shalt increase thy birth rate and strive to bring many children to healthy manhood and thereby decrease thy death rate.

"Thou shalt in thine own life be frugal and temperate and work to increase thy material welfare and that of thy family.

"Thou shalt support and abide by the laws enforcing prohibition of the manufacture and use of intoxicating liquor. Liquor has retarded the advance of our race. Our future is hopeful with liquor out of the way.

"Thou shalt [illegible] and take an active interest [illegible] full part in the government of thy native land. Thou must ever keep [illegible] with the times."

GOES TO JAIL FOR HOBBY

New York Man 70, Couldnt Resist Digging Holes Around Park Trees

Albert S. Males, seventy years old and of distinguished bearing, went to jail in New York recently because he would not abandon his hobby of digging holes around trees.

Policemen in Central park tried to make him stop it, but he wouldn't, so one of them arrested him. He took his pick and shovel to court and told the magistrate his occupation was digging holes around trees.

"Five dollar fine," said the magistrate.

"In case I dont pay, how long do I have to stay in jail?" the old man asked.

"One day," the magistrate told him.

"All right," said Males, and was led to a cell.

His friends said Males was well to do.

KILLS WOMAN AS WITCH

Australian Aborigines Still Cling to Ancient Tribal Beliefs

The conviction of an aborigine, Wongacurra, recently on a charge of murdering a woman served to make manifest how closely the aborigines of Australia cling to certain tribal rites.

Evidence at the trial showed that Wongacurra had lost his wife and two children through disease. In accordance with tribal superstition he ascribed their deaths to witchcraft and his suspicions fell on a woman named Konka. He tracked her for several days through wild country and struck her with a spear.

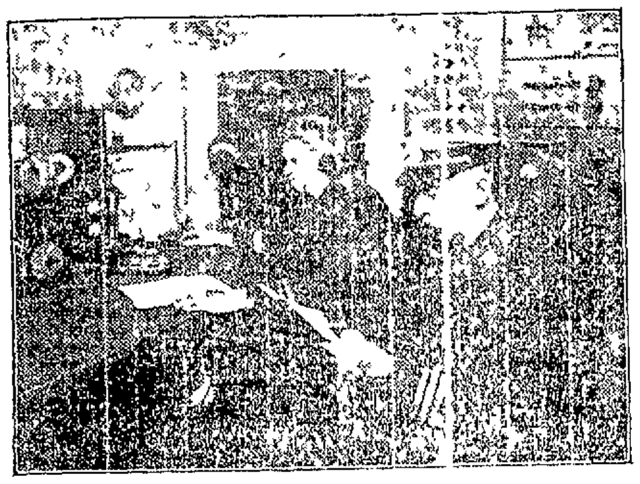
Wongacurra was arrested after a long and perilous hunt. At his trial he testified he had killed Konka because she had caused the deaths of his wife and children.

Pleasantries at an Operation

Dr. T. Victor Keene, Indianapolis physician and surgeon, once was being prepared for an appendicitis operation. He was a fellow among those whose loving hands were to gas him out and carve him up. So they were making grim humor about the cutting party. So pleasant did the occasion become that to this day Doctor Keene doesn't know whether he was placed under the influence of an anesthetic or whether he was just simply scared into unconsciousness and did not come to until after the operation. They began regularly enough to give him the gas and then he heard the following pleasant little remark—and he [illegible] no more until after it was all over:

"Hey, [illegible] aren't there [illegible] other [illegible] know [illegible] ous devil? [illegible] out. [illegible] snuff him out."

Duties of Ship Surgeons Increased Because of Wireless-Calls for Aid



Ship Surgeon giving advice by wireless

New York.—As a result of the perfection of wireless communication at sea the work of the ship surgeons has been greatly enhanced. There was a time, not so long ago, when the duties of the surgeon was confined to the care of the passengers and crew on the vessel of which he was physician. Nowadays, however, the surgeon's work has been almost doubled by the calls for aid from passing ships. Recently a survey of the medical situation in the vessels of its fleet was made by the United States Lines and many interesting stories were brought to light.

Within the last few months investigation shows the surgeons of the United States Line vessels have been called upon to prescribe for a score or more cases which were brought to them through the medium of wireless. Now that the wireless telephone [illegible] experimental stage [illegible] having been successfully carried on for a number of [illegible] Steamship America [illegible] that the ship surgeon will be called upon more extensively than ever before.

It is nothing uncommon for the ship surgeon to be aroused in the middle of the night to prescribe for a sick sailor [illegible] several hundred miles [illegible] radio calls for assistance [illegible] come from freight ships which do not carry surgeons [illegible] the captain with the [illegible] had medical [illegible] physician to his crew.

On his recent arrival in New York Dr. R. I. [illegible] on the liner President [illegible] reported having treated twelve members of a freighter crew [illegible]. The ship surgeon was aroused in the middle of the night by a radio request for aid for twelve sailors who were [illegible]. Dr. [illegible] detailed histories of the cases and after a thorough analysis of the information sent him determined that the luckless twelve were victims of ptomaine poisoning. The surgeon prescribed [illegible] treatment for the twelve and [illegible] later received a message of thanks from the freighter captain informing him that the ptomaine sufferers were recovering.

Dr. W. S. Ford of the steamship President Garfield has the distinction of being the first surgeon on record to have aided and abetted the stork by wireless. On a trip from Europe Dr. Ford received a message from the captain of a freighter reading: "Have wife on board. Expect arrival of stork before we can reach port. Please assist."

This was a problem, indeed, for Dr. Ford, for it was an emergency in which he must not be found wanting. Dr. Ford founded in language that could be understood by a layman the necessary directions, which sped through the void in [illegible] and dashes to the far away freighter over which the stork hovered. Two days later the surgeon of the President Garfield received a message which read: "Now have a son. Will name him Napoleon [illegible]. [illegible] and thanks and God bless you."

Dr. William Irwin, surgeon of the [illegible] President Harding of the United States Lines, is a pioneer in wireless surgery and a short time [illegible] had the thrill of his life in [illegible] with a man whose leg he had amputated and whom [illegible]. The amputation occurred [illegible] nine years [illegible]. On [illegible] Dr. Irwin [illegible] wireless call from [illegible] which was equipped with a radio station. [illegible] of the [illegible] with the [illegible] stated [illegible] that it [illegible] developed [illegible] Dr. Irwin had [illegible] to [illegible] prompt amputation was necessary to save the patient's life.

[illegible] impossible for [illegible] to reach the [illegible] operate [illegible] surgeon Dr. Irwin [illegible] whether [illegible] attempt the [illegible] provided full [illegible] came back in the [illegible].

Then through the ether went the [illegible] and the operation [illegible]. The [illegible] for the [illegible] acting as surgeon [illegible] kitchen saw and butcher knife as his instruments. The severed arteries and veins were tied with [illegible] thread. During the [illegible] Dr. Irwin [illegible] the patient was doing nicely.

Then came the lapse of years until the [illegible] about three weeks ago, when Dr. Irwin stepped ashore from the President Harding in New York to be greeted by a one-legged man as follows:

"You don't know me, doctor, but you are the man who cut off my leg nine years ago."

IMMENSE POWER OF MUSIC

There Is Almost No Limit to Its Influence on the Human Soul

Music! The dictionary defines it as "The science of harmonious sounds—melody or harmony." The tide of battle has been turned by the [illegible] of harmonious sounds, and to [illegible] some old familiar melody has often resulted in soothing the troubled heart.

Music can call the patriot to the defense of his country, can enthuse anew the worshiper at the shrine, can call the lover to his beloved, can fan into flame the dying embers of the fire in the enthusiast's breast. There is no limit to the power of music over the human soul.

The world needs music—music of the soul, music of the heart, music of the voice, music of the spirit. There are people who can't sing, yet they can be moved to tears or laughter by the words of some simple melody. Some people sing their way through life and such people have a wonderful influence on the lives of others.

Music can have an almost magical effect in producing the desired results. In fact, the imagination fails to picture a world without music.

Crop prospects have improved decidedly during the last month and estimates of the [illegible] are being gradually revised upward. It is now the opinion of most [illegible] authorities that with reasonably favorable weather for the balance of the season the south will make a crop of around 12,000,000 bales.

This would guarantee a normal supply for the coming year and would probably lead to materially lower prices. However, the crop can be made or ruined during the month of August, and in the meantime the market remains exceedingly sensitive to unfavorable crop reports.
